Announcement of Metallicum Minerals Corporation Advisory Board

The Executive Chair of Metallicum Minerals Corporation, Chris Bevan, is pleased to announce the establishment of the MMC Advisory Board. The Board consists of leading experts in the fields of rare earth deposits in Australia, refining technology and the handling and implementation of a circular economy for post-processing waste management, as well as policy development, government relations and strategic advice.

The Advisory Board currently consists of:

- John Marcarian, Chair of the MMC Advisory Board and the Founder of CST Chartered Accounts and Advisors, a Sydney-based international tax advisory company.
- Sasha Grebe, Deputy-Chair, a senior government and corporate adviser with nearly 20 years' experience in the development and implementation of corporate vision and strategy.
- Prof. John Mavrogenes, a professor of economic geology at the Research School of Earth Sciences at The Australian National University in Canberra. He has an interest in the formation of rare earth element deposits.
- Prof. Sami Kara, a professor of sustainable manufacturing and life cycle engineering at the University of New South Wales in Sydney, with over 30 years' experience in industry, research and tertiary education.

Several other candidates have agreed to sit on the MMC Advisory Board and their details will be available in the near future.
